Emma Hayes does not want to change the "DNA American" of the women's team of the United States while she steps on the sideline for the first time on Saturday as the main coach of the squad that is hungry for redemption.

A friendly pre-Olympic match against South Korea will be the first look of American fans at Emma Hayes, while the teams work to overcome the worst campaign of the Cup in the past year.

"We all know the main ingredients of the American DNA, and this will not change under my administration", said Hayes.

"The most important thing was the bet365 casino apk download capacity to capture information quickly and learn - sponges incredulous.

"It doesn't matter what we throw at them this week, they are assuming it and absorbing. This team is desperate to improve."

Hayes' appointment was announced in bet365 casino apk download November, but the former Chelsea manager did not officially join the USA until this month after she won her seventh WSL title with the club.

This time frame gives her little space to get familiar with the squad - much less to choose a list of 18 players.

The four gold medalists have less than two months before the start of the Olympic campaign in Paris against Zambia, but Hayes said she is taking a step at a time in the process.

"This is an opportunity, as I said before to learn about the players and the bet365 casino apk download tactical understanding", she affirmed to reporters.

"We all know they are competitive, but they were incredibly studious during the whole week."

Speaking in bet365 casino apk download the first press conference as coach, Hayes showed a glimpse of her famous personality and made it clear that she loved the future challenges.

"This is my passion. It was something that I loved since the first minute in bet365 casino apk download when I left the womb of a mother", she said, "It is a privilege to do this job and I love it."

After facing South Korea on Saturday in Commerce City, Colorado (USA), the USA will play again on Wednesday in the Asian side.
