Os Conservadores estão código cupom aposta ganha desordem total antes das eleições

It's becoming painful. You can see the defeat code coupon bet win your eyes. The physical language of a party that has given up for a long time. That knows it was unmasked by an electorate. They knew that everything was lost a few months ago, but now even there is no appearance of a fight. The Conservatives are just a disunited band that can't even pretend to win. All passion is spent.

Normally, with less than two weeks to the elections, you would expect the government machine to speed up for a final push. A big shout to convince the country that they were never so good. But no. Nada. Certainly, Sunday of all days would be the moment to bring a big win?

Maybe Jeremy Hunt, on the eighth anniversary of the Brexit referendum. Who better than the former chancellor to take the reins of our TV screens in the shows of Trevor Phillips and Laura Kuenssberg to bathe in the brilliance of the decision? To tell us that a 3% hit to GDP was completely worth the price. To make big praises to the great commercial agreements that will make little difference to our economy.

Rishi Sunak desperately wants to sell the economic miracle of the Conservative. The miracle that led to a drop in living standards over the long parliament. Jezza, however, seems to be hiding. If I'm worried about code coupon bet win absence for a week, now I'm on the edge of collapse.

It's OK to leave now, Jeremy. No one is to blame - much - for the disorder you made. Many thought you were never up to the job. It wasn't fair to make you the chancellor. You can't even operate your own credit card. So, if anyone sees a lone figure with a dog hidden behind a code coupon bet win Godalming, please, call the police. Or at least the Tory party. The country needs to know he is still alive.

James Cleverly fala pelo governo

With Jezza still missing, the job of James Cleverly speaking for the government on Sunday programs. No offense to Jimmy Dimly - he is a legal face, not overburdened with intelligence - but he was on the same programs for less than a month. And with the best of intentions, current programs don't serve as well as repetitions. We all know what Jimmy D thinks - not much - because he has already told us.

Maybe it would have been a public service if the Sky and the Tories had really not wanted to participate on Sunday. The Conservative operations center would have given a quick code coupon bet win to all ministers, except Cleverly, who refused to attend. But Dimly was and Dimly was who we had. He seemed understandably sad. If he had had a bad week before appearing on the program, he was about to get much worse.

Normally, Jimmy is ready to fight, but even he seems to see that now it's all code coupon bet win. He never even had a chance to attack the Tories because he was so busy fighting the continuous Tory show.
