Professional Counter-Strike competition

Professional Counter-Strike competition involves professional gamers competing in the first-person shooter game series Counter-Strike.

The original game, released in 5 1999, is a mod developed by Minh "Gooseman" Le and Jess Cliffe of the 1998 video game Half-Life, published by 5 Valve.

Currently, the games that have been played competitively include Counter-Strike (CS also called CS 1.

6), Counter-Strike: Condition Zero (CS:CZ), Counter-Strike: 5 Source (CS:S) and Counter-Strike: Global Offensive (CS:GO).

Major esports championships began in 2001 with the Cyberathlete Professional League Winter Championship, won 5 by Ninjas in Pyjamas.

[1][2]History [edit]

The Counter-Strike series has over 20 years of competitive history beginning with the original 5 Counter-Strike.

Tournaments for early versions of the game have been hosted since 2000, but the first prestigious international tournament was hosted 5 in Dallas, Texas at the 2001 Cyberathlete Professional League (CPL) Winter Championship, won by the Swedish team Ninjas in Pyjamas.

The 5 tournament offered a $150,000 prize pool and became known as the first "Major".

[1] The final significant update to the original 5 Counter-Strike game was version 1.

6 in 2003, and so the game became known as Counter-Strike 1.6 ("CS 1.6").

2001 Winter CPL 5 Counter-Strike tournament

In 2002, the World Cyber Games became the next tournament to host competitive Counter-Strike, followed by the Electronic Sports 5 World Cup in 2003.

These, along with the bi-annual CPL tournaments, were the dominant Majors of CS 1.6 through 2007.

CPL ceased 5 operation in 2008, but another league, ESL, then added Counter-Strike to its Intel Extreme Masters (IEM) series.

These tournaments continued for 5 four years.

[1] The years of 2002-07 are considered Counter-Strike's first Golden Age, as the game's popularity and market-share eclipsed all 5 others in the fledgling esports industry.[citation needed]

Valve struggled to iterate and evolve on CS 1.

6 because of its high skill 5 ceiling and gameplay.

The Counter-Strike Xbox release had limited success as compared to that of Halo and Call of Duty.

The first 5 official sequel was Counter-Strike: Source (CS:S), released on November 1, 2004. The game was criticized by the competitive community, who believed 5 the game's skill ceiling was significantly lower than that of CS 1.6.

This caused a divide in the competitive community as to which game to play competitively. [3] Valve, sponsors, and tournament organizers were advocating for the newer CS:S to be played 5 at tournaments, but the large majority of professional CS players refused to play it due to its perceived shortcomings.

[citation needed] 5 Counter-Strike esports gradually decreased in popularity during the late 2000s and early 2010s.

This was in part due to the fractured 5 competitive scene, but also due to the newcomer MOBA genre overcoming Counter-Strike's previous stranglehold on the team-based esports market.

The release 5 of Counter-Strike: Global Offensive (CS:GO) in 2012 reunited the competitive community of Counter-Strike, ushering in a new era of esports 5 relevance for the franchise.

Initially, the game was criticized for imbalanced gameplay, poor mechanics and bugs.

However, within several months the gameplay 5 improved after updates from Valve.

The advent of video game streaming services such as UStream, Justin.

tv and Twitch increased the popularity 5 of competitive Counter-Strike.

On September 16, 2013, Valve announced a US$250,000 community-funded prize pool for its first CS:GO Major Championship; the 5 money was funded through the "Arms Deal" update, which created in-game cosmetics that players could purchase.

Valve also announced that the 5 first Major would take place in Sweden at DreamHack Winter 2013.

[1] The Valve-sponsored Majors would go on to be the 5 most important and prestigious tournaments in the Global Offensive esports scene.

In October 2015, a number of professional esports organizations with 5 Counter-Strike teams announced the formation of a trade union that set several demands for future tournament attendance.

The announcement was a 5 publicly posted email written by Alexander Kokhanovsky, CEO of Natus Vincere, that was sent to organizers of major esports events.

Teams 5 that were part of the union included Natus Vincere, Team Liquid, Counter Logic Gaming, Cloud9, Virtus.

pro, Team SoloMid, Fnatic, Ninjas 5 in Pyjamas, Titan and Team EnVyUs.

Teams in this union would not attend Counter-Strike: Global Offensive tournaments with prize pools of 5 less than $75,000.

[4] In 2016, the World eSports Association (WESA) was founded by ESL with many esports teams, including Fnatic, 5 Natus Vincere, Team EnVyUs and FaZe Clan,[5] though FaZe Clan left soon after the league's formation.

[6] In its announcement, WESA 5 said it would "further professionalize eSports by introducing elements of player representation, standardized regulations, and revenue sharing for teams".

They also 5 planned to help fans and organizers by "seeking to create predictable schedules." [5] Valve's decisions have a strong influence on the competitive 5 metagame.

Decisions such as the removal of old maps and additions of new maps are often met with criticism, as well 5 as changes made to certain weapons' performance characteristics.

In 2016, Valve was "heavily criticized" for the removal of the map Inferno 5 and its replacement, Nuke, in the competitive map pool.

[7][8] The release of CS 1.

6 in 2003 saw a contentious nerf 5 of the iconic AWP sniper rifle by increasing its draw time.

This significantly reduced the ability of a player armed with 5 an AWP to simultaneously engage multiple targets.

The AWP was again the subject of a controversial nerf in 2015 when players' 5 movement speed and acceleration was decreased while the weapon was equipped.

Valve has also implemented new coaching rules restricting the ability 5 of communication between coaches and players during a match, and altered a 15-year precedent by increasing the duration of each 5 round and bomb timer in 2015.[9]

By 2014, 25 million copies of the Counter-Strike series were sold.

The game's fan base remains 5 strong, having reached a new record of 1.

4 million concurrent players in March 2023, surpassing the game's previous record of 5 1.

3 million concurrent players in 2020 during the COVID-19 pandemic.[10][2][11]

Tournament system [edit]

Counter-Strike tournaments can be hosted by any 5 entity, and do not have a single official event organizer (like FIFA in football association, for example).

The Major Championships, sponsored 5 by Valve and held by different organizers twice a year, are the most prestigious tournaments, although they may not necessarily 5 have the highest prizes.

Most of the big teams compete, most of the time, in world tournaments that bring together teams 5 from all corners of the world.

[12][13] Some of the most notable major tournaments are organized by ESL, such as the 5 Intel Extreme Masters and ESL Pro League, and by BLAST, such as the BLAST Premier series.

Tournaments that do not have 5 a worldwide character are usually organized for teams of lower level, serving as qualifiers for the main tournaments.[14][12]

Teams rankings are 5 published by HLTV and ESL, who use various criteria to determine the best ranked teams from the most recent tournaments.

These 5 rankings are then used by some tournament organizers to directly invite teams, depending on their rank.

In 2023, Valve announced that 5 starting in 2025, only the official Valve ranking system could be used to generate invitations, and all other "large-scale" events 5 need to use open qualifiers.

Media coverage [edit]

As the game and the scene grew in popularity, companies, including WME/IMG 5 and Turner Broadcasting, began to televise Global Offensive professional games, with the first being ELEAGUE Major 2017, held at the 5 Fox Theatre and broadcast on US cable television network TBS in 2016.

[15] On August 22, 2018, Turner announced its further 5 programming of Global Offensive with ELEAGUE's Esports 101: CSGO and ELEAGUE CS:GO Premier 2018's docuseries on TBS.[16]

Controversies [edit]Cheating 5 [edit]

Cheating, particularly through the use of software hacks on online servers, has been a problem throughout the history 5 of Counter-Strike and generally results in a game ban if discovered.

A Valve Anti-Cheat (VAC) ban is the most common way 5 in which players are banned.

VAC is a system designed by Valve to detect cheats on computers.

Any time a player connects 5 to a VAC-secured server and a cheat is detected, the user is kicked from the server, given a permanent lifetime 5 ban and barred from playing on any VAC-secured servers.

[17] Professional players play online on independent platform servers hosted by leagues 5 such as ESEA or Faceit, which have proprietary anti-cheat programs.[18]

Linus "b0bbzki" Lundqvist was the first known professional player to be 5 banned in Global Offensive.

Hovik "KQLY" Tovmassian was one of the highest-profile players to be issued a VAC ban.

KQLY was banned, 5 along with several other professional players, such as Gordon "Sf" Giry, while KQLY was playing for France's best team, Titan.

[19] 5 Vinicius "v$m" Moreira from Brazil was VAC-banned while he was playing for Detona Gaming.[20]

Cheating has also occurred at LAN tournaments, 5 and players who cheat at organized tournaments may receive permanent bans or may be dismissed from their team.

In 2018, at 5 the eXTREMESLAND ZOWIE Asia CS:GO, Nikhil "forsaken" Kumawat of OpTic India was caught cheating mid-match using aimbot during a tournament 5 game against Revolution, a Vietnamese Counter-Strike: Global Offensive team.

[21] The tournament had a $100,000 prize pool.

[22] OpTic India was disqualified 5 and Kumawat was dismissed from the team.[23]

In 2020, the Esports Integrity Commission (ESIC) banned over 37 coaches[24] due to abuse 5 of a spectator mode bug.

Valve also has punished these coaches from a number of CS:GO Majors with the severity dependant 5 on the number of times the bug was abused.[25]

On 15 April 2021, Valve updated event guidelines to allow players with 5 VAC banned accounts to compete again in Valve sponsored events.

[26] The updated rules state: A VAC ban will only disqualify 5 a player from an event if it was either received less than 5 years prior, or if it was received 5 at any time after their first participation in a Valve-sponsored event.

Match fixing [edit]

Players have also been banned for 5 match fixing.

In August 2014, two CS:GO teams, iBUYPOWER and NetcodeGuides.

com, were involved in a match-fixing scandal that has been cited 5 as "the first large match fixing scandal" in the CS:GO community.

[27] iBUYPOWER, who was heavily favored to win, lost in 5 a resounding 16-to-4 defeat to NetcodeGuides.com.

It was later discovered in a tip to Dot Esports that the match was fixed.[28]

On 5 20 Jan 2021, ESIC issues sanctions against 35 players[29] for betting related offences primarily in the Australian CS:GO scene.

On the 5 31st of March 2021 the Commissioner of the ESIC, Ian Smith, has revealed that the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) 5 is now involved in the ongoing investigation into match-fixing in North American Counter-Strike, which has been underway since September 2020.

[30] 5 ESIC is collaborating with federal law enforcement as part of a larger investigation into players bribed to fix matches by 5 outside "betting syndicates".

Gambling [edit]

Following the introduction of weapon skins into Global Offensive with the Arms Deal update in 5 August 2013, a virtual economy formed around the skins based on rarity and desirability. Because of this, a number of skin-trading 5 and gambling sites using the Steamworks API were created.

Initially, these sites focused on wagering skins on the outcomes of professional 5 and semi-professional CS:GO matches, in the vein of sports betting.

However, some of these sites began to offer casino gambling functionality 5 in 2015, allowing users to gamble their skins on the outcome of roulette spins, coin flips, dice rolls, and other 5 games of chance.

[31][32] According to research firm Eilers & Krejcik Gaming, players and esports fans wagered $2.3 billion in 2015,[33] 5 and $5 billion in 2016[34] on CS:GO skins.

In June and July of that year, two lawsuits were filed against specific 5 gambling sites and Valve, arguing that Valve allowed their skins to be used for illegal underage gambling.

[35][36] Valve began to 5 take steps to prevent these sites from using Steamworks for gambling purposes, and several of the sites ceased operating as 5 a result.

[37] In July 2018, Valve disabled the opening of containers in Belgium and the Netherlands after the in-game loot 5 boxes appeared to violate Dutch and Belgium gambling laws.

[38] However, some parties have tried to contest Valve's gambling rules.[39]

In 2004, after performing poorly for two consecutive seasons in the Serie A, Grêmio finished bottom of the league and were relegated to Campeonato Brasileiro's Second Division. Serie B brought even less revenue, which combined with the club's large debt threatened to snowball into Grêmio's bankruptcy.

Lei Nacional de Segurança Nacional Brasileiro brazino apk Força, Sem Alterações

A nova lei nacional de segurança recentemente aprovada parece não ter sofrido alterações.

A Lei de Segurança Nacional de 2024 levou milhares de manifestantes às ruas quando foi promulgada. Agora, isso é visto como um risco excessivo. Não foram feitas manchetes com prisões. Não houve incursões nas redações.

A Ordem para Proteção da Segurança Nacional entrou em vigor em 23 de março.

O Artigo 23 terá efeito catalisador significativo, diz Li.

A China prometeu mantê-lo desimpedido da liberdade e estilo de vida relativos de Hong Kong por 50 anos, quando o Reino Unido entregou o controle de Hong Kong ex-colônia à Beijing, governada pelo Partido Comunista da China em 1997. Essas liberdades civis ocidentais, como liberdade de expressão e imprensa livre, eram o pilar da cidade como um importante centro financeiro internacional.

A lei de 2024 foi imposta por Pequim depois de meses de protestos governamentais anti-governo, que agora foram enfraquecidos. Muitos ativistas pró-democracia foram presos, silenciados ou forçados ao exílio. Duzentos de grupos de sociedade civil foram desmantelados. Mídias ativas como o Apple Daily e o Stand News foram fechadas. E muitos jovens profissionais desiludidos e famílias de classe média emigraram para o Reino Unido, o Canadá e Taiwan.

A Lei Básica de Hong Kong, ou constituição, prescreve que a cidade promulgue uma lei de segurança nacional, mas durante 27 anos o Conselho Legislativo não a aprovou, com ampla oposição a uma tentativa anterior de promulgar uma lei assim em 2003. O governo de Hong Kong afirma que a lei é necessária para prevenir a recorrência dos protestos tumultuados de 2019. Diz que a lei equilibra a segurança nacional com a salvaguarda das liberdades.

No entanto, muitos temem desafiar a lei - que visa a colusão com "forças externas" para ameaçar a segurança, divulgação ilegal de segredos de Estado, sabotagem e espionagem, entre outros. Atos graves, como traição e insurreição, estão penalizados com pena de prisão perpétua. Algumas disposições permitem a perseguição criminal por atos cometidos brazino apk qualquer lugar do mundo.

Ante a riscos, alguns optaram por jogar na segurança.

A Liberdade de Expressão brazino apk Risco

Um dono de livraria independente removeu cerca de 30 livros das prateleiras, temendo que pudesse ser acusado de distribuir publicações sediciosas. Os títulos são sobre os protestos de 2024, Tibete e Xinjiang, todos os tópicos politicamente sensíveis na China continental. Os livros serão jogados fora.

O livreiro, que fala sob condição de anonimato por medo de represálias governamentais, removeu os livros por causa das disposições mais severas da nova lei, que permitem à polícia solicitar a aprovação do tribunal para prolongar a detenção de suspeitos sem acusações e proibir suspeitos de consultar determinados advogados. O livreiro teme não ter um julgamento justo se for acusado.

"É uma pena", disse o livreiro. "Isso é uma restrição desnecessária à liberdade de expressão."

Com o artigo brazino apk vigor, os delitos de sedição estão sujeitos a pena por um período de até sete anos, ou dez anos se uma pessoa for condenada por atuar com governos ou organizações estrangeiras para Carry ut as atividades. O governo mantém que a crítica destinada a melhorar suas políticas não será processada, mas há menos margem para dissidência pública desde que a lei de 2024 entrou brazino apk vigor.

O Liga da Democracia Social, um dos poucos partidos pró-democracia restantes brazino apk Hong Kong, será mais cuidadoso com seus materiais publicitários para evitar ser considerado sedicioso, disse brazino apk presidente, Chan Po-ying.

"Quando as coisas são incertas, qualquer um fica preocupado", disse.
