Church, lunch, and the game are the three pillars upon which the Italian Sunday was built. Three clustered events spaced a few hours within each other: first duty, then necessity, and finally pleasure. Even if it does seem excessive calling it a pleasure, for all the times an afternoon defeat made our baked pasta go down the wrong way and along with it, the entire weekend.

The cult of the game does not have specific areas of competence, no typical geographical indication, like wine does, but it has always brought people together within its single large leather sphere. From North to South, from the countryside to the big cities, from the mountains to the sea. Those who could went to the stadium, up to the time it was more comfortable to watch matches on TV. Lunch was at home, then down to the bar, until the call of the family became too insistent to be ignored. At that point the pocket radio came in handy.

But like all cultural symbols, fans have had to deal with the progression of the sport's economic sector growing disproportionately in just a few years. The first change was the match schedule: after more than half a century of Sunday afternoon starts, the delay was born. It was the 1993 of great changes, with Italy in political turmoil and television rights becoming a greater feature of the sport. It was the first upheaval of many. In February 2024 the first round of the Series A schedule was split between Friday afternoon and Monday evening, with no match played at the same time. For the older folks this was an outrage. Who knows what my grandparents would have said, used to arriving at Sunday dinner knowing the rankings were already updated. Obviously it was no longer possible to follow games on the radio minute by minute, as I did as a child. My parents were never big fans, but when we would go on our Sunday outings in the car, we listened to the live broadcast on the radio, which started immediately after the iconic theme song, A Taste of Honey, by Herb Albert & the Tijuana Brass. And when we went for a walk, I had the trusty pocket radio with me. The excitement was palpable as the reports came from field to field, the format used then by the Rai network for live football events. The reporter was often interrupted by the jingle announcing a goal in another stadium. I clearly remember the sensation I felt seconds before the correspondent would give updates on the match; moments when I hoped news would be about my favorite team but – careful! – also in that moment the opposing team could have scored. I swayed on that swing between relief and disappointment each time, every Sunday. In today's connected world, the ball game now comes to us. Our grandparents would have gone mad, as well as our parents limited by pay-TV, if with a few taps on a screen they'd had access to live matches, able to watch them on the beach, at a wedding, on the road, anywhere. The new football times may be irritating, or may seem like an obstacle to sharing, but these new means actually allow for greater access. Of course, they take away a bit of the sentimentality, but watching matches is part of Italian culture, and a fragmented schedule will not undermine this tradition. After all, even church times have changed, and Sunday lunch is now often replaced by the American style brunch. Some things change over time, but the essence is the same. The peanuts at the stadium still taste as they did when my grandfather took my father in the early 1950s. And likewise when he then took me forty years later. Seeing the green lawn in person for the first time, seeming so immense while climbing the bleachers, will always be an emotion shared by children from all generations. The same as congregating in front of a screen with friends and family, cheering for a goal or consoling after a defeat. The radio broadcast continues to accompany us, especially in the car; and – if there's no signal – to this day we still have the pluck to ask strangers "Who hit the goalpost?" like Paolo Fantozzi did in the iconic movie scene. Because that's how we like it, and we can't do without.

Rizek: "No sé quoi les programmes d'intelligence artificielle diront du virage du Palmeiras"

Kendry Páez, âgé de 16 ans, a été le joueur du Independiente del Valle qui a le plus ennuyé le Palmeiras lors de sa victoire 3-2, ce mercredi, à Quito, en Équateur. Négocié avec Chelsea, en Angleterre, le milieu offensif a exprimé son admiration pour le Verdão en analysant le match de la Copa Libertadores.

Estádio	Resultado
Independiente del Valle - Palmeiras	2 - 3

Interrogé sur son équipe préférée, Kendry Páez a répondu:

"Cette équipe du Palmeiras est vraiment forte. Elle a remporté la Libertadores et, en vérité, c'est spécial de jouer contre eux. Ils nous ont battus ici chez nous, c'est le rival le plus difficile de la Copa Libertadores, mais c'était un privilège de jouer avec eux. Nous sommes un peu déçus, mais nous allons continuer à nous battre."

Sa performance a poussé Abel Ferreira à modifier la stratégie défensive de l'équipe adverse et à placer un joueur supplémentaire pour limiter son espace dans le deuxième temps. Il a terminé le match avec 43 passes réussies, deux tirs et une passe décisive.

Négocié pour 20 millions d'euros (110 millions de réais) avec le Chelsea, Kendry Páez ne peut quitter son pays avant d'avoir 18 ans, ce qui arrivera en 2025. D'ici là, il continuera sa routine, sous la supervision du club anglais.
