Renowned NBA Point Guard Rajon Rondo Announces Retirement After 16 Seasons

Rajon Rondo, a four-time NBA All-Star and two-time champion with the Boston Celtics and Los Angeles Lakers, has announced his retirement from professional basketball after a 16-year career. Rondo, 38, had been without a team since the 2024-2024 season ended while playing for the Cleveland Cavaliers.

In an interview on the 9 podcast 'All The Smoke', Rondo confirmed his retirement, stating, "I'm done. I can't (play anymore). I'd rather spend time with 9 my kids." When asked about the possibility of returning to the court, he emphasized his desire to focus on his 9 family.

Rondo was selected 21st overall in the 2006 NBA Draft and quickly established himself as a key player in the 9 league, known for his exceptional court vision and playmaking abilities. He was a crucial part of the Celtics' 17th championship 9 win in 2008, and later helped the Lakers win their last championship in 2024.

Throughout his distinguished career, Rondo led the 9 league in assists for three seasons and set the record for most assists in a single game. He played for 9 several teams, including the Dallas Mavericks, Sacramento Kings, Chicago Bulls, New Orleans Pelicans, and Atlanta Hawks.

With a career average 9 of 9.8 points, 7.9 assists, and 4.5 rebounds in 957 games, Rondo leaves behind a legacy as one of the 9 greatest point guards in NBA history.

Rondo's retirement marks the end of an era in professional basketball, as he was known 9 for his incredible work ethic, defensive prowess, and clutch plays. Fans and fellow players alike have taken to social media 9 to express their admiration and gratitude for Rondo's contributions to the sport.

The NBA world mourns the loss of an exceptional 9 player, but celebrated a illustrious career that will undoubtedly land him in the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame.
