Betting Options at HorseRacing The best horse racing betting sites allow punters to wager on a vast number of races from around the globe. You'll find markets on daily UK and Irish horse racing, so there's never a dull moment. And with betting options like straight bets, each-ways, accas, and more, it can be as simple or as complex as you like. Big Races For the majority of bettors, it's likely the cornerstone events that are of most interest. Let's take a look at some of the most prestigious horse racing to take place annually. The Grand National – One of the best-loved UK horse races, the Grand National takes place at Aintree Racecourse in Liverpool. It's a steeplechase of 4 miles and 2½ furlongs with 30 jumps over two laps. Corach Rambler took the 2024 win, with the 2024 Grand National set to take place next April.

Horse Racing Types of Bet It's easy for newcomers to get confused by the different types of horse racing bets, but it's actually pretty simple. Here's a really quick rundown of a few options to get you started.

Win Betting The simplest bet you can make, here you're backing a horse to win the race outright. For the bet to succeed, your selection must be first across the line.

Each-Way Betting If you fancy a horse to win, but you're not 100% convinced it can beat the rest of the field, an each-way bet is another option. Combining a win bet and a place bet, your horse needs to finish 'in the money' — in a top position — for you to receive a return. How many positions paid depends on the number of runners, the race, and any extra place promotions the bookie may be offering. Place bets are paid at a fraction of the win odds. Typically, the top two places are paid at 1/4 odds on races with 5–7 runners, while races of 8 or more horses usually pay four places at 1/5 odds. Bookies often pay extra places (sometimes up to ten or more) on high-profile events like the Grand National. How does it work? Say you place an each-way on a certain horse. If it finishes first, both the win and place portions win, giving the maximum return. But if it comes second, just the place portion wins — you'll receive that payout but forfeit the stake for the win bet.

Accumulator An accumulator or 'acca' is a type of multiple combining runners across multiple races into one bet. These wagers work the same way as doubles or trebles, but refer to bets of four legs or more. So you might bet on Horse A to win the 2:15, Horse B to win the 2:50, Horse C to win the 3:15, and Horse D to win the 4:05. Each selection must be successful for the accumulator to win, but if it does so, the resulting payout can be huge despite a relatively small stake. Horse racing accas can be placed on win, place, and each-way markets — it's important to weigh up all the odds to find a bet that's right for you.

Lucky 15 A Lucky 15 is a type of multiple or combination bet covering a range of outcomes. It requires you to pick runners across four races, with the following bets placed:

- Four singles – one on each horse
- Six doubles – each combination of two horses
- Four trebles – each combination of three horses
- One four-fold accumulator – requiring all four selections to win

As long as one of your selections wins, you'll see a return — although it could be less than your stake. The more you get right, the bigger the payout.

Yankee A Yankee is much like a Lucky 15, but does away with the singles. It's made up of 11 bets in total — six doubles, four trebles, and one four-fold acca. You'll need at least two of your selections to win if you want to see a return.

Popular Horse Racing Meetings There's no shortage of choice when it comes to betting on horse racing. While the best horse racing bookmakers offer a plethora of daily racing across the UK and Ireland, it's events like Cheltenham and the Grand National that attract the most punters. Here's a quick overview of the most popular horse racing meetings in the calendar.

Cheltenham Festival Each year in mid-March, Prestbury Park sees the best of the best compete across 28 races spread over four days. Cheltenham Festival is home to many renowned Grade I courses, with highlights including the Champion Hurdle and the Queen Mother Champion Chase. But it's the Gold Cup that's the headline event, the most prestigious National Hunt race in UK racing. Galopin Des Champs was first to cross the line at the 2024 meeting. The next Cheltenham Festival is set for 12–15 March 2024.

The Grand National The closing chapter of the titular Randox Grand National Festival, the Aintree spectacular is the most watched horse race in the world. Run over 4 miles and 514 yards, the challenging course includes 30 fences and is regarded by many as the ultimate test in horse racing. With up to 40 runners taking part, there's plenty of room for an upset — many will remember Noble Yeats' 2024 win at 50/1. SP favourite Corach Rambler beat out the competition in this year's 2024 event, scoring a juicy £561,000 in prize money. The next Grand National will be run on Saturday 13 April 2024.

Royal Ascot Every June, Ascot Racecourse in Berkshire welcomes five days of top-quality racing. Noteworthy courses include the Queen Anne Stakes, St James's Palace Stakes, and the esteemed Gold Cup that takes place on the third day of the festival. Also known as Ladies' Day, it's a chance for spectators to showcase their finest fashion. You'll often catch a glimpse of the Royal Family within the 300,000-strong crowd too. The Royal Ascot 2024 event will take place 20–24 June, and we'll have each day's results here at HorseRacing as soon as the horses cross the line. The Derby Known to some as the Derby Stakes or Epsom Derby, this annual Group I flat race takes place at Epsom Downs in Surrey. Run annually on the first Saturday of June, the course stretches one mile, four furlongs, and six yards in total. The Derby is one of the richest races in the calendar. The prize pool for the 2024 event was a whopping £1.6 million, with bookies' favourite Desert Crown being first across the line for a substantial share of the money. Punters looking to bet on the next Derby will find all the latest odds here at HorseRacing, with the off scheduled for 4:30pm on Saturday 3 June 2024.

Horse Racing Racecards Want to know who's running in today's races? Our detailed racecards have all you need to know. The best horse racing betting sites feature a wealth of daily UK and Irish horse racing — we cover every meeting so you can stay on top of the odds. You can sort races by date, time, and meeting. We provide detailed information about each runner, including age and weight, jockey and trainer, along with any tips or naps for that horse. Alongside, you'll find odds at leading bookmakers so you can compare prices and get the best deal.

Betting Odds at HorseRacing One of the best ways to get maximum benefit from your horse racing betting, is to always shop around for the best horse racing odds available. Each betting site will offer their own odds for each horse based on their own opinion on the race and the liabilities they face due to the bets they have already taken. This means that the same horse can be 8/1 with one betting site and 12/1 with another. If you consistently bet at the best odds available you have a much better chance of making a profit. Here at HorseRacing you can compare Horse Racing Odds on every race, every day plus the biggest races in the calendar. So whether it's Cheltenham odds, Grand National odds or the odds for the 2:30 at Wolverhampton, you can use our website to find the best prices available.

Gamble Responsibly Before placing any bets, you must be aware of the risks of gambling — it can quickly become addictive. At HorseRacing, we implore our readers to gamble responsibly at all times. By doing so, the activity can remain a fun and enjoyable hobby.

Tips for Responsible Gambling Here are some best practices when you gamble, whether it's on horse racing or something else: Never treat gambling as an income — you're never guaranteed a win.

Set a budget for your session and stick to it.

Never gamble when under the influence of drugs or alcohol, or if you're feeling emotional.

Only gamble what you can afford and are comfortable losing.

Make use of on-site limiters to control how much time and money you spend on gambling.

Always seek help if you're concerned or worried about your gambling.

Warning Signs of Problem Gambling and Addiction Knowing what to watch out for is essential to nipping problem gambling in the bud before it escalates further. Here are some warning signs:

Needing to gamble larger amounts to receive the same enjoyment or thrill.

Gambling more than you can afford to lose.

Borrowing money in order to gamble.

Hiding your gambling from others or feeling ashamed.

Neglecting personal responsibilities in order to gamble.

Prioritising gambling over other hobbies such as socialising.

Betfair is a British gambling company founded in 2000. It operates the world's largest online betting exchange. Its product offering also includes sports betting, online casino, online poker, and online bingo. Business operations are led from its headquarters in Leeds, alongside satellite offices in Ceuta, Dublin, London, and Malta. In February 2024, Betfair merged with Paddy Power to create Flutter Entertainment.

History [edit]

The company was founded in June 2000, by Andrew Black and Edward Wray.[1] Softbank purchased 23% of Betfair in early April 2006, valuing the company at £1.5 billion. In December 2006, Betfair completed the purchase of the horseracing publishing company Timeform (which traded under the name Portway Press Ltd).[2]

Betfair was the first betting company to sponsor an English football team, featuring on the kit of Fulham in the 2002–03 season before the Gambling Act 2005 permitted the industry to advertise on television and radio.[3][4]

In March 2007, Betfair launched its own Betfair Radio service, available via its website, on the telephone and elsewhere. This has now become Timeform Radio, broadcasting horse racing commentary and results.[5] On 27 January 2009, Betfair announced the purchase of the TVG Network in the United States from Macrovision US$50 million as part of Macrovision's dissolving of TV Guide's assets.[6]
